Chicago, July 5.—The membership of sixteen railroad labor organizations, including the Big Four Brotherhoods, will decide through a referendum vote by September 1 whether to accept or reject the 12 per cent wage reduction that went into effect on railroads throughout the country July 1. It was decided tonight by the chief executives and 1,500 general chairman of the organizations.

The general chairman decided that they could not assume responsibility for the wage reduction that was ordered by the railroad labor board. E. H. Fitzgerald, president of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employees, said that "nothing can be expected of the railroad employees interested in the decision of the labor board except to resist to the fullest extent the reduction of rates of pay and the proposed abrogation of certain favorable working conditions."

Rules Affected.
The resolution said that the general chairman were required not only to consider a wage reduction, but in many instances railroad officers have served notice of their intention to abolish time and one-half for overtime in freight and yard service. In addition thereto to revise schedules for the benefit of railroads by abolishing many rules and conditions, which in the aggregate mean the loss of much money and the creation of less favorable conditions for the various classes of employees.

"Much uneasiness and unrest exist," the resolution continues, "which cause deep concern and add to the seriousness of the situation and establish a condition of affairs which makes it practically impossible for the general chairman to take the responsibility of deciding these important questions, for the reason that we hold that no reduction in wages of the various classes is justifiable."

The resolutions directed the executive officers to call to the attention of those in authority "the fact that certain carriers, namely, the Missouri and North Arkansas railway and the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad have disregarded the decision and flouted the authority of the railroad labor board."

To Avoid Action.
The general chairman said that

Receiver Named
For Body of Man
Killed in Wreck

Undertakers Directed to Turn Corpse Over to Firm Employed by Widow.

For the first time in the history of Atlanta court proceedings in the belief of lawyers a receivership for a dead body was declared Tuesday when Judge George L. Bell, of the superior court, issued an order declaring S. R. Greenberg and E. F. Bond, undertakers, special custodians of the body of H. M. Emerson, who was killed in the wreck of the Jonesboro "dummy" near Fort McPherson Tuesday morning.

This unique order was issued for the relief of the widow and was directed against Donehue & Bazemore, undertakers, who had taken the body to their undertaking place, had embalmed it, and had declined to turn it over to Greenberg & Bond, undertakers employed by the widow, until they had been paid $50 for embalming work, according to the petition filed before Judge Bell by Little, Powell, Smith & Goldstein, attorneys for the widow. Damages amounting to $10,000 is claimed by the widow against Donehue & Bazemore for "tortuously, wrongfully and wilfully withholding the body of her husband from her."

In the petition it is stated that after the accident before the undertakers employed by the family could take charge of the body employees of Donehue & Bazemore took the body into their custody and carried it to their place of business. When Greenberg & Bond, the firm employed by the family of Emerson, called at Donehue & Bazemore's for the corpse they were refused to take it until $50 had been paid, according to the petition.

The action of the defendant is a malicious and intentional tort and was done without any lawful excuse whatever," the petition reads. It was asked that the court grant relief and after hearing the petition Judge Bell issued the following order which is said to be the first of its kind in the history of Atlanta court history: "The executor of the estate of H. M. Emerson, deceased, and the plaintiff in the foregoing action, to wit, S. R. Greenberg and E. F. Bond, are hereby appointed by the court as special custodians to take charge of the body of H. M. Emerson, deceased, and after consultation with the plaintiff in the foregoing action, to wit, S. R. Greenberg and E. F. Bond, are hereby ordered and directed to turn over said body to the family of Emerson, and are enjoined and restrained from interfering in any wise with their possession."

Not "Body-Snatching."
T. C. Bazemore, manager of Donehue & Bazemore, issued a statement Tuesday night in which he declared that the removal of the body from the undertaking establishment "was not a case of body snatching."

"In reference to the charges for embalming," said Mr. Bazemore, "the body was in such condition as to require the services of three embalmers for almost four hours. There is a custom among the undertakers of this family to dress some other firm to take charge of the body, the second company said the service was rendered and the body is released."

The only reason we took charge of the body after the engine was lifted from it was because no other undertakers were present. I did not see his wife because she was hysterical, but one of her friends told me that she thought it would be all right for us to take possession of it. When Greenberg and Bond, who hold a contract with the railroad, demanded the body, the only reason we did not surrender it was because we wanted our money for services rendered," he concluded.

CURTAIN DROPPING ON CLOSING SCENE
OF DUEL TO DEATH

W. W. Fenley, Aged 72,
Who Killed J. A. Bancroft, Aged 50, Dying at Grady Hospital.

DEBT GIVEN AS CAUSE OF DESPERATE BATTLE

Man Who Met His Death Fired First Shot and Also Used Knife on Slayer, Says Witness.

At an early hour this morning the curtain was slowly dropping on the closing scene of the battle to the death waged yesterday afternoon between J. A. Bancroft, 50 years old, of 127 McMillan street, and W. W. Fenley, 72 years old, of 46 Curran street—a duel fought with knife, bullets and clubbed pistol, and witnessed by the wife of Fenley and one of his neighbors.

Bancroft, with three pistol wounds in his body, is dead. Fenley, shot, slashed with a knife and beaten over the head, is in the hospital dying, and his wife, who collapsed after the fight, is being tenderly cared for by friends and relatives.

The quarrel between the two men was an old one, growing, it is said, out of a debt of $200 owed to Fenley and money due him for building a home for the man he killed. Once before, it is claimed, they had met and exchanged shots, but no one had been injured at that time.

Dramatic Story Told.
According to the story of Will Murdock, of 50 Curran street, who was on the Fenley porch talking to the owner at the time, Bancroft drove up in his automobile and leaving the car at the door below the Fenley home walked into the yard and fired the first shot.

Murdock says that his back was turned to the street and consequently he did not see Bancroft until the latter was already on the porch.

As he turned Bancroft said to him, "Will Murdock, get out of here and get out of here quick," drawing his pistol at the same time. Then Bancroft spoke to Fenley, who had been sitting with his head in his hands and had evidently not seen him until he commanded Murdock to leave.

Shoots at Fenley.
"We might as well settle this thing now," he is alleged to have declared. At the same time Fenley drew his pistol at Fenley.

Murdock declares that three shots were fired by Bancroft while Fenley was getting up and getting to the door. The latter ran to his room and coming back with his pistol, opened fire on Bancroft. Bancroft followed Fenley into the house shooting as he came. Later drawing his knife and slashing at the throat of Fenley he inflicted several deep gashes, at the same time beating Fenley over the head with the butt of his gun.

Fenley fired only three shots, all of them taking effect at close range. In the chest and neck of Bancroft, who crumpled against the door and slid slowly to the floor. He died immediately.

Fenley, who showed unusual tenacity for a man of his age, collapsed at about the same time that Bancroft fell and had to be rushed to the home of a neighbor for first aid.

He was rushed to the Grady hospital, where little hope was held out for his life. In addition to the head bruises and the gashes in his neck his body was literally riddled with bullets.

Mr. Fenley's aged wife was a witness to the shooting, and she collapsed after her husband fell.

Had Exchanged Shots.
According to neighbors, there had been bad feeling between Bancroft and Fenley for some time. Several months ago the two met and exchanged shots over the same case. It is said.

Mr. Murdock, in telling further of the quarrel, said that he was passing the house of Fenley at about 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon when Fenley called him in.

"I owe you $250, Bill," said Fenley. "Murdock then walked up on the porch and took a seat. He had scarcely done so when Bancroft came in."

Mr. Fenley and his wife are slightly respected members of the community. "Come in and I'll pay you," he declared his appropriation was small, but vowed he would save money even at that. So when he began to look around for furniture and other office equipment, he decided it would be a good time to start saving.

Son of Harvard Professor Among Those Accused of Misrepresentation.

New York, July 5.—Indictments charging Elliot L. Norton, lawyer and author; Anthony J. Drekel, Jr., of Philadelphia; Louis R. Jennings and Harry Brodski with selling unauthorized stock of the Standard Film Industries, Inc., were returned by the grand jury last Thursday. It became known today when Norton was arrested and held in $5,000 bail. He pleaded not guilty.

Mr. Norton, son of the late Charles Elliot Norton, professor of English at Harvard university, was named in the indictment as secretary and attorney of the company. Mr. Drekel was designated as vice president, Jennings as president and Brodski as general manager.

The indictments grew out of an investigation into the company conducted by the New York state industrial commission, following receipt, police said, of numerous complaints from people of small means who claimed they had been induced to invest in the corporation on promises of large returns, but had received no dividends. According to District Attorney Swann, more than $60,000 worth of stock was sold to negro residents of the Harlem section.

The company, incorporated in Virginia, is alleged to have reported the sale of only 200 shares of stock at $5 each to the Virginia authorities, whereas the indictment charges stock of $35,000 par value was actually sold at $3 to $3.50 a share, bringing in approximately $200,000. Salesmen were paid large commissions, ranging as high as 40 per cent, according to the district attorney, who said no dividends were paid.

Jennings and Brodski were indicted in 1919 on charges of publishing misleading advertisements for the same stocks. The indictments were later dismissed on recommendation of an assistant district attorney who held the evidence was insufficient. Drekel is said to be in Europe. Jennings in Chicago, or St. Louis, and Brodski at Rotunda Beach, Cal. The specific charge in the indictment is violating a section of the penal code relating to the amount declared. The stock of the film corporation was not listed on the curb market.

The maximum penalty provided by law is seven years imprisonment, $3,000 fine or both.

Dawes Starts
Up in the Attic
To Save Money

Instead of Buying New Furniture, Surplus of Various Departments Utilized.

BY RALPH H. TURNER,
United News Staff Correspondent.

Washington, July 5.—Government employees, long subject to an unwritten law of silence, are responding readily to Charles G. Dawes' unique invitation that they come forward with suggestions for more efficiency and less expense in the conduct of Uncle Sam's business establishment.

For almost the first time in history they are displaying a spirit of helpfulness in creating a governmental administration that will function economically and efficiently. In the past, either indifference or fear of their jobs had sealed their lips.

Then "hell and Maria Dawes" as director of the budget, rushed into town, shouting the exhortation that the people in government tell him all their bright ideas—and promised them protection in the telling.

The result was almost immediate. Although it's only a week since Dawes' stirring mass meeting address, bureau chiefs already have come to him, carrying their own ideas or those of their workers.

Walter F. Brown, who represents the president in the task of reorganizing the executive departments, also is receiving a wealth of suggestions for improving government efficiency and in his office has a file devoted entirely to the letters and suggestions from government workers.

Dawes, acting upon the advice of a bureau chief, already has seen how ideas from within the government can promote the cause of economy. When the former A. E. F. general began work on the budget, he declared his appropriation was small, but vowed he would save money even at that. So when he began to look around for furniture and other office equipment, he decided it would be a good time to start saving.

But the problem wasn't solved until a bureau chief recalled that practically every government department had surplus office equip-

SOLICITOR SCORES

ALLEGING SLANDER

Attorney "Rehashing Charges Contained in Floyd Woodward Letter," Asserts Boykin.

DEFENDS HIS CONDUCT
IN ART YOUNG CASE

Declares Money Paid by Confidence Man Was Sum It Cost County to Bring Him Back.

Following the refusal yesterday of Judge John D. Humphries to institute proceedings against Solicitor Aldine Chambers, Mr. Boykin, as requested by Chambers, Mr. Boykin last night issued a statement in which he defended his conduct in the case of Art Young, confidence man, and scored Mr. Chambers for issuing "threadbare charges for the purpose of slandering me."

"This utterly groundless charge is a fair sample of all the ones which Chambers has brought against me," he said. "It is very evident that it is his desire to injure me as much as possible by the constant repetition of these slanderous charges in the public prints. It is manifest that this is his purpose."

In regard to the Art Young case, on which Chambers based a large part of his letter to Judge Humphries, the solicitor asserts that the money, $450, paid by Young, was to recompense the county for the expense of bringing him back to Fulton.

Boykin's Statement.
His statement in full follows: "I see Aldine Chambers has broken into print again."

"He has rehashed the charges which were contained in the Floyd Woodward letter, in a letter which he wrote to Governor Dorey. He has repeated them again in a letter to Governor Hardwick, and now, not satisfied with that, has written them over in a letter to Judge Humphries."

"I know the public is very tired of hearing these threadbare charges aired every day or so in the public press. I have made a full and complete reply to every one of these charges, upon several occasions. I do not desire to weary the public with the controversy much longer."

"It is very evident that Chambers' desire is to injure me as much as possible, by the constant repetition of these slanderous charges in the public prints. It is manifest that this is his purpose."

Art Young Case.
"At the expense of closing in on the papers once more myself, I desire to make a reply to the only new or additional charge which he makes in his letter to Judge Humphries, which is in reference to the Art Young case. All of his other charges have been so frequently and so conclusively answered, further reply to them would be mere repetition."

"Now, as to the Art Young case. Art Young was indicted in Fulton superior court for larceny after escape. He was also indicted by the United States grand jury for the northern district of Georgia, for a fraudulent use of the mails, which grew out of the same transaction as the indictment in Fulton superior court for larceny after trust. The transactions were virtually the same."

"Art Young was located in Utah. A federal agent went after him, both on behalf of the state of Georgia and on behalf of the United States government. The county of Fulton advanced $400 for the expense of bringing him back. There had been regular extradition papers issued by the governor of Georgia upon the governor of Utah, and everything was perfectly legal and regular."

"Several weeks had been occupied by Art Young in relation to extradition proceedings, necessitating that the agent of the state remain there while these proceedings were being had. Meantime, I was wired that on account of the delay $50 more would be needed to cover the expense of transportation. Out of my own funds I sent this $50. Therefore, the total cost of bringing Art Young back was $450, of which the county paid $400 and I paid $50."

Same Offense Charged.
"After Art Young reached Atlanta, it was of course apparent that there was a conflict between the federal and the state authorities as to which should try him. It was perfectly apparent that the same offense, in substance, was charged against him both in the United States court and in the state court. Art Young pleaded guilty in the

Cotton Automobiles,
Coal Dust for Fuel,
May Come in Future

Chicago, July 5.—Automobiles built of a composition of cotton and operated with coal dust for fuel are a possibility, according to Roger W. Babson, statistician, who is visiting here.

"The principal factor in the decline of automobile business has been the increase in the price of gasoline," he said. "The car of the future will be run by other fuel. Already the use of coal dust has passed the experimental stage."

"Lighter cars must be manufactured to cut down the cost of production and maintenance. A composition of cotton, formaldehyde and glue is being used to produce a material that may serve the problem."

UNLIMITED AUTHORITY

Reported That Britain Is

BY A. E. JOHNSON,
United News Staff Correspondent.

London, July 5.—Endowed with almost limitless powers of mediation, and authorized to offer concessions which the British government has never in its previous history accorded Ireland, General Jan Smuts holds the key to Irish peace.

And as a result of the sensational events of the past three days, culminating in the historic conference between north and south in the Dublin mansion house on Monday and the despatch of the South African leader to Ireland practically as a mediator, Irish and British hopes for peace have risen almost to a certainty that an end of the age-long strife is at hand.

It is generally believed now that the Valera eventually will accept Lloyd-George's invitation to participate in a conference at London. And if he does so, it is felt that neither he nor Lloyd-George could afford to go back to their people and tell them that, with peace in sight, they had failed to reach an agreement.

From an authoritative source it is learned that General Smuts' status in the negotiations now going on is that of a mediator, not a plenipotentiary. He will visit both Eamon de Valera and Sir James Craig, ascertaining from each exactly what the Irish leaders desire and what are the minimum requirements demanded by the other side before they will co-operate in the interests of a settlement.

General Smuts will seek to obtain a truce between the Irish republicans and the crown forces, the moment a Sinn Féin-Unionist British conference begins.

It was rumored Tuesday—and the rumor was generally credited—that the bill to abolish the fee system in counties was introduced by Senator Mansion, of the thirty-fifth.

The bill to abolish the fee system in counties was introduced by Senator Mansion, of the thirty-fifth.

Governor Thomas W. Hardwick will appear in person before the general assembly today to deliver his first address on the financial condition of the state and suggest methods of retrenchment.

Having studied the problem for the past several weeks and having held numerous conferences with both state officials, the chief executive has reached the conclusion that a complete revolution is needed in Georgia's taxation system to equalize the burden by taxing certain classes of property for state purposes alone and leaving the remainder for local purposes.

As the only means of immediate relief, close observers of the situation are of the opinion that adoption of the McLendon Western and Atlantic railroad funding plan, the exchange of the governor's mansion and sale of other state property offer the best solution.

No Salary Cuts.
This opinion is based on the fact that the suggestion to reduce salaries of various state officials cannot be placed in effect; that allowing of appropriations is impossible, and that reformation of the present system of taxation can be accomplished only through constitutional amendments.

Governor Hardwick has not revealed his new plan of raising state revenue, but it is understood that it will call for constitutional amendments giving the general assembly power to enact special taxes, an income tax and place corporations on a gross earnings basis.

Organization meetings of the committees of the house and senate were held yesterday afternoon, following Speaker Cecil Nellis' announcement of his selection at the morning session. So Governor Hardwick will have a fully organized general assembly when he de-

The Fly Trap That Does the Work

Especially Good for Dairies, Apartment Houses, Hospitals and Markets

We have just received a very large shipment of the celebrated Curry Fly Traps. These traps are today being used all over the country by leading hospitals, milk dairies, hotels, grocery houses and many other lines of business. They are constructed in such a way that they make a clean sweep of all the flies in the neighborhood wherever they are being used. Naturally, with the mid-winter weather just passed through, the creation of flies will be extremely large this summer. So, if you would put into action all the sanitary laws known to you, then by all means know the Curry Fly Trap. Price only $3.00, but renders such service—where there are many flies—that they are worth the price in one day.

Washington, July 5.—Creation of a department of public welfare, as asked by President Harding, was expected as a result of the work of the Senate committee on executive reorganization.

This would mean delay of at least a year.

Widespread opposition had developed to the measure for creation of a department of public welfare. The Senate committee on education and labor, organized education, and fear that in a general reorganization of the government activities would be submerged.

A religious element has likewise been injected into the controversy, which is proving troublesome both to senators and the president.

Many in action, object to the bill because they argue reorganization at this time is not needed. In fact, projects in that direction now afoot.

The committee has declined to report back to the president. It is that it will be governed by the wishes of the president's physician, discussed the question with Senator Kenyon, in charge of the committee, but they reached no decision on a course of action.

Senator Kenyon is to consult further with the president, and after laying the situation before him, is expected to report back the president's views to the senate.

Stanley Decides
Savannah Liable
Officer's Widow

Savannah, Ga., July 5.—(Special.) As the first case of its kind decided by the state supreme court, the decision of H. M. Stanley, commissioner of commerce, in the hearing of Mrs. Mildred H. Marlowe, widow of Walter H. Marlowe, a Savannah merchant killed on duty by yegmen some months ago, has aroused special interest here.

The commissioner decided that the city is liable and as chairman of the industrial commission directed that the city pay to Mrs. Marlowe $10,000 a week for 200 weeks, less amount which she may have been already paid her. The city said carry the matter by appeal into the courts.

The contention of the city has been that it never accepted the new law and that the patrolman was an officer of the industrial commission rather than an employee of a corporation. The commission also allows the widow of the patrolman in addition to weekly compensation, $100 for funeral expenses.

Advertising Leading Factor in Business,
Says Commissioner

Des Moines, Iowa, July 5.—Advertising is the most important factor in modern business, Dr. John Tiger, United States commissioner of education, declared in an address here today.

"Important as are the factors of labor, raw material, production, marketing and circulation, none of these are as significant today as advertising," he said.

"The newspaper was the greatest medium of advertising and it still stands as such. It's the only medium that can be used for immediate results."

LIFE-SAVERS RESCUE
CREW OF SCHOONER

New Orleans, July 5.—Neo Pons and Sam Hoyt, life-savers, rescued the crew of five off the schooner Harvel which was wrecked by a storm and sunk in Lake Pontchartrain late last night. The schooner carried five thousand watermelons.

HOLIDAY RECEPTION
HELD BY AMBASSADOR

Lima, Peru, July 5.—The United States ambassador, William E. Gonzales, gave a reception today in honor of the Fourth of July, which was attended by President's cabinet, government officials and diplomats here. The American society of Peru gave a banquet tonight.

The newspapers today published articles praising the United States and sketches of the North American republic.

TO OPEN CHURCH
BIDS ON FRIDAY

Sealed bids for the rebuilding of the Georgia Avenue Presbyterian church, which burned April 10, will be opened Friday night at the manse, 329 Grant street. The plans and specifications for the proposed new church have been worked out by Hamilton Elliot and contractors are to meet at the home of the pastor, the Rev. Dr. Robert Ivey.

Boy Bitten by Rattler.

Davidsboro, Ga., July 5.—(Special.) Buster Nunn, the 13-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. P. C. Nunn, of Davidsboro, was bitten by a rattlesnake while playing in some woods with other boys. He ran to his father for treatment and Dr. Nunn says that he does not believe there will be any bad after-effects.

MARVIN ROANE QUILTS OIL INSPECTOR POST

Marvin P. Roane, who has served for nearly five years as state oil inspector, will retire from that office immediately, he announced Tuesday. Mr. Roane will be succeeded by J. J. Holloway, of Carroll county, who will be appointed by J. J. Brown, commissioner of agriculture. Mr. Roane will retire just as soon as an audit of his books, which he is having made, is completed.

During the time that Mr. Roane served as head of the oil inspection department the volume of business increased 300 per cent. In his administration also the state has been forced to fight litigation brought by oil companies to have his department declared unconstitutional. He has directed the state's side of the case while the oil interests were led by the Texas Oil company. The legal battle went through state courts and federal courts where the state won victories. The Texas company case is now before the United States supreme court.

Prior to taking up the position of state oil inspector Mr. Roane was in charge of the state's oil business for several months ago to retire as state oil inspector. Mr. Roane is one of the most popular officials who ever worked at the capital and much regret was expressed by associates and friends Tuesday when it was learned that he had decided definitely to retire from his position.

FLORIDA SENATOR
CHARGES FALSE
ECONOMY CLAIMS

Washington, July 5.—The republicans in the U. S. House and the administration were quarreling today over the making of false claims of economy.

The Florida senator declared in the Senate that the administration had been discharging in the name of economy, what in fact was a reduction of the number of federal judgeships and to start investigations of the extra duty of clerks and other assistants.

Senator Fletcher criticized the administration's policy of "the unwieldy republican majority" and said three months of the extra duty of clerks and other assistants, referring to the budget bill as one of the few constructive pieces of legislation, he said that "perhaps there is sufficient hell-and-Marina in it to bring results."

GREEK VANDALISM
ENRAGES TURKS

Constantinople, July 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Greeks have delivered a sharp protest to the allied high commissioners here regarding the destruction of the Greek troops in the territories they have evacuated.

The note calls the attention of the allies to "special cases of willful vandalism carried out by the Greek fleet on the island peninsula of the Aegean."

Great clouds of smoke over the peninsula were observable from the city.

Reports of the commencement of a Greek drive against the Turks have been received. Heavy fighting, however, is proceeding on the Ushak sector, to the west of Afium-Karabhisar. The Turks have recaptured Karamural, on the south shore of the Gulf of Ismit, about 15 miles southwest of Constantinople, which Greek battleships had reduced to ruins.

7,000 COKE WORKERS
AFFECTED BY SLASH

Connellsville, Pa., July 5.—Approximately 7,000 coke workers in the independent plants of the Connellsville coke region were affected today by a ten per cent reduction in wages, the second announced since the new rate is about 23 1-3 per cent below the rate paid January 1, but according to coke men, some 45 per cent higher than the prevailing rate in 1912. Only about seven per cent of the independent ovens are in operation.

There are now two scales for the same work. Connellsville, field, that paid by the independent and the scale of the H. C. Frick Coke company. The latter became operative May 16 and somewhat higher than the independent scale. None of the coke ovens of Frick company are in operation. All the coal being mined is shipped to the by-product coke plants.

Attorney General To Be Prosecutor Of Arson Charges

Governor T. W. Hardwick Tuesday requested the attorney-general to handle the prosecution in charges of arson brought in Ben Hill county against G. S. Wilcox, J. C. Lockett, white men, and James Haygood, a negro, growing out of the burning of the plant of the Lockett Motor company at Fitzgerald May 28.

Warrants for the arrest of the three men were executed in Fitzgerald recently by State Fire Marshal Albert Sharp.

Fire Marshal Sharp held a conference with Governor Hardwick Tuesday afternoon and placed before the governor all information in his possession concerning the manner in which the motor company's plant was burned. Insurance aggregating $15,000 was carried on the stock which was a total loss.

In his request to the attorney-general the governor asked that special counsel be employed if necessary to aid Fire Marshal Sharp in prosecuting the cases. It was stated that several other arrests may be made in the matter.

Fire Marshal Sharp will go to Fitzgerald next week to appear before the Ben Hill county grand jury in the case.

NEW INSPECTORS IN SANITARY WORK TAKE UP DUTIES

Four new sanitary inspectors started to work Tuesday morning to replace James Simpson, Joseph Abernathy, A. C. Belcher and H. P. Mallory, night superintendent of street cleaning, who were declared without jobs in a decision rendered Monday by City Attorney James L. Mayson.

They were dropped by Sanitary Chief John Jensen from his list of nominations which was then confirmed by the board of health. Anti-Jensen members secured a reconsideration of the elections and then adjourned. The city attorney ruled that the board had not right to reconsider an election.

Two of the men whom Chief Jensen left off of his list of nominations had been candidates against him and the other two were claimed to have been active in the campaign. Following the city attorney's ruling they were asked by Dr. Linton Smith, president of the board to surrender their badges and the four new men went on to replace them. They had been promoted from flushers to inspectors.

BRIAND DOWNFALL THOUGHT POSSIBLE

BY HUDSON HAWLEY.
United News Staff Correspondent.
Paris, July 5.—From the crash of the Banque Industrielle de la Chine may arise not a financial crisis, but a political crisis that may sweep Premier Briand and his cabinet out of office. The situation may be cleared up by the explanations of the minister of finance, but recalling that the Clemenceau and Caillaux cabinets fell as the result of analogous financial controversies, political wisecracks are full of foreboding.

Briand has at least won the assent of the chamber to adjournment of the questioning by Deputy Outrey on the Banque Industrielle de la Chine until Thursday or Friday. But in the meantime the premier must give certain explanations to the senate's foreign affairs and financial committees on Wednesday—and former President Poincaré is due to preside over these sessions. There should be some lively tilting as a consequence.

The failure of the Banque Industrielle de la Chine is considered a tremendous blow at the economic prestige of France in the Orient. It not only concerns this one banking institution, but the French bank of Cocin, which, as well as in this latter bank the present minister of finance, M. Doumer, has long been interested.

The press openly charges that Loucheur endeavored to save the Banque Industrielle with the active support of M. Berthelot, but that Doumer preferred to let events take their course, saying that he acted on the advice of the Chinese legation.

On the other hand, Lautier, writing in Le Journal, declares that the Chinese legation had been having a hard time of it, and that a French official, M. Doumer, has long been interested.

If Briand believes that the worst coming, he still has a chance to save his own neck by dismissing Doumer and reforming the cabinet. But the chamber is nervous and touchy, easily excited—and anything may happen.

major was killed. A semi-official statement issued after the attack says that the government is "not satisfied with the platonic explanations made by Germany. But nothing has been done in the way of punishment or retribution."

Admittedly, Briand faces a delicate situation, but the official interpretation of the "attack" is that it was directed more against British troops than the French, and that from it "England should learn the lesson that agreement between London and Paris is indispensable to a settlement of the Upper Silesian difficulties."

On the other hand, the government feels that if France is forced to take further guarantees in reprisal for Germany's hostile acts, this would frustrate the hope of completing the economic arrangements with Germany to which the Loucheur-Rathenau conversations have already paved the way.

Negro Shot by Deputy.
Elberton, Ga., July 5 (Special).—An Elberton deputy sheriff of Elbert county, was slightly wounded in a pistol battle with an unidentified negro near Elberton, Sunday night. The negro, who was not seen several times, is not yet arrested. It is understood that the negro was drunk and resisted arrest. The deputy was wounded in the right ankle.

PEACE IN IRELAND IS NOW EXPECTED

Lloyd-George has authorized Smuts to offer Ireland "dominion" home rule, a status which the British government has never before been willing to concede. This, of course, would be based upon an expressed willingness of both Ulster and the south of Ireland to co-operate to make it effective.

The Earl of Midleton, who conferred with De Valera at Dublin, has arrived in London and was closed with the premier for the first time since the outbreak of the Fourth of July meeting at length, and will return to Ireland tomorrow. He is expected to meet the Earl of Midleton at Dublin on Friday.

COUNTER PROPOSAL IS EXPECTED.
London, July 5.—The parliamentary correspondent of the London Times says that the British government expects Eamon De Valera to reply to Premier Lloyd-George with a counter proposal. The proposal is that it is impossible to state the exact Sinn Fein opinion on the subject, he says it has been suggested in some quarters that the Sinn Feiners would prefer, if they enter a London conference, to have it called by the king and have a chairman who is not a direct representative of the British government, rather than Mr. Lloyd-George.

WARSHIPS SENT TO TAMPICO PORT

seals would take no action unless a more serious situation arose. Reports from Tampico yesterday that several ships of the Atlantic fleet had arrived at Tampico were premature. It was stated that no American war craft had arrived there and it was assumed that the reports resulted from the receipt of the news at Tampico that the Cleveland and Sacramento had been ordered to that place.

ORDERS INDEMNITIES TO IDLE WORKERS.
Mexico City, July 5.—Oil companies which have closed down operations in the states of Tamaulipas and Vera Cruz without sufficient justification are ordered to pay indemnities to employees thrown out of work by their action in a decree issued by President Obregon last night. The decree was promulgated through the department of the interior.

Although the amount of the indemnity is not stated, it is understood that all laborers would receive three months' pay. Reports from the Tampico district indicate there has been a marked cessation of work during the past week, especially among American concerns. General Arnulfo Gomez, commander of federal troops in the region, reported yesterday that more than 10,000 workmen had been thrown out of work during the last few days by foreign oil companies. No reason for their action has been ascertained.

Reports from the Vera Cruz fields indicate that the oil companies are seeking up operations instead of decreasing their working forces. At Tampico, the oil companies are working during the past week, but it is understood to be an act of reprisal against the recent decree increasing the export taxes on petroleum.

Jack-Georges Atmosphere As Boorde Loses to Battling Budd

Freddie Claims Busted Bone in Right Paw, But Won't Quit for Anybody.

BY FUZZY WOODRUFF.

There was a distinct Dempsey-Carpenter atmosphere about the scrap at Walk Miller's last night. All the preliminary boys, having read of the secret of Mr. Dempsey's success, thought that the famous pugilist would be the one to break the metacarpal bone of his right hand.

Battling Budd was Freddie's opponent—his traditional foe, one might say if one or two or even three wished to grow classical. They have scrapped before in Atlanta and have carried their propaganda of pugilism into the wilds of Tennessee, Alabama, South Carolina and other untutored communities. Some times Freddie wins and sometimes Budd wins, but sometimes their bout is called a draw.

Despite their frequent clashes they battle in earnest. They did last night. Budd entered the ring looking like a Greek god according to the pugilist standards and looked good for a flattening, inasmuch as Freddie looked like he had recently had intimate acquaintance with a brakeman according to the predicament set by Mr. Dempsey.

Freddie Nearly Out.

They went at it with a will in round one with Budd having the edge. In the next session honors were divided and in the third Freddie started some serious stuff and stopped suddenly. The sudden change in his campaign plans were caused by a right cross flush on the chin and Freddie went all but out, particularly as it was followed by a lot more rights and some lefts.

Freddie's ring generalship—and he has some—was in this session, but for the first time Budd looked like the Budd of old, the boy who used to knock them all kicking.

In the intermission between the third and fourth round, Freddie took on a pained look. His more or less handsome physiognomy was marred in anguish. Everybody thought that his jaw hurt. It should have, but Freddie protested that it was his right paw.

There were a lot of dramatics in his corner. The referee was consulted by the Boorde gang of seconds. Evidently they were consulting about the desirability of Freddie's quitting.

A La Bat Nelson. But Freddie shouted "No, no, I will not quit!" in approved Bat Nelson style and the untutored got a thrill. Anyhow, then on, Freddie didn't hit with his right hand. He couldn't have very well, but he was too busy using it to hold with.

Budd eased up and the scrap was as tame as kittens until the tenth, when Budd evidently became annoyed by shots from the throng "you can't lick a one-armed man." Budd then tried to play his adversary, and come near succeeding, but Freddie is a tough, well-skilled and he weathered the storm.

After the scrap he displayed his injured paw. It is somewhat swollen, but if it's broken, Dempsey is a frog.

Both Boys Lose. The semi-windup was the bear of a scrap between Battling Coveleskie and Frankie Conway. Inasmuch as both of them lost it was called a draw. They went all right for four rounds with Conway in the lead when Covey caught him with a left and flattened him. Conway arose groggy and went down again, but once more arose and by the time Covey was through and for the rest of the scrap couldn't do anything but headpins and approved hugs.

Conway was doing better but not much. A red-headed youth named Johnnie Smith tried a Carpenter rally in the second round, but he was slain by Kild Dombie, but like Georges he fell short and like Georges he got knocked down, but unlike Georges he refused to get up. In the opener, Hollis Sullivan, who looks like a disappointed Homer Powell in four rounds.

LOUISVILLE SPLITS TWIN BILL WITH WRENS

Louisville, Ga., July 5.—(Special.) Louisville split a double bill with Wrens Monday, winning the first, 7 to 5, and losing the second, 2 to 4. This is the first encounter between these two teams since relations were severed several months ago. The attendance was large and both games were fast and well played. Batteries: Louisville, first game, Hardeman and Willie; second, J. Hardeman and Willie; Wrens, first game, P. Brown and Brown; second, W. Brown and Brown.

YANK RECRUIT GETS NO-HIT GAME TUESDAY

Hartford, Conn., July 5.—Miles Thomas, a pitcher farmed out to the Hartford club of the Eastern league, by the New York Americans, and a former Penn State star, pitched a no-hit no-run game against Springfield today. He struck out eleven men.

How They Hit.

Having laid down the principle that "the only way to abolish divorce is to abolish marriage," Bernard Shaw can now go on with the noble work of abolishing death by arranging that nobody shall be born.—Punch.

VICTIMS OF HASTE.

The deplorable accident on the Central of Georgia railroad in a suburb of Atlanta yesterday was simply another of those distressful occurrences that illustrate, with tragic forcefulness, the wisdom of the old and time-honored slogan:
"Better Be Safe Than Sorry."

In this instance the driver of an automobile tried to do what hundreds of automobilists are doing every day—that is, to beat an approaching train to a railroad highway crossing.

His calculation was at fault, for he reached the crossing at exactly the same moment the locomotive did—and the details of the inevitable gruesome tragedy that followed on the instant are given in our news columns in this issue.

To summarize: Two, perhaps more, human lives were lost; several persons were more or less seriously injured, some, it may be, crippled for life; a train was wrecked, entailing heavy loss in dollars and cents, and the automobile was completely demolished.

And an appraisal of the damage done would be wholly incomplete without taking into account the mental pain and heart-suffering of those near and dear to the dead and injured.

Consideration for their feelings in the hour of their bereavement makes it unpleasant to point a moral in a case of this kind; but consideration for the community as a whole, and the individual persons composing it, justifies, not a reproach upon anyone who may have been at fault, but again calling attention to the hazard that perpetually lies in wait at the railroad crossing and to the folly in an attempt by a driver of a vehicle to cross a railroad in front of an oncoming train.

Even though in ninety-nine times out of one hundred the attempt is successful, the one time that it is not tragically proves the folly of the venture—and too late!

And it is well for every driver of an automobile and every motorcyclist, unless he has already formed the habit of extreme caution, to resolve here and now never again to try to beat a moving train to a crossing; for he cannot know in advance but that his attempt will lead to the next tragedy of the kind that has just shocked this community—that it may be his form that is recovered, broken and mangled, from the wreckage, and his loved ones, who may be heart-broken and suffering the inexplicable anguish of the bereaved.

The fine crop-making weather is not appreciated by the vealdevouring prodigal sons.

Still, it won't do for Germany to cut up when she pays up.

Peace talk never fails to make the senate fighting-mad.

This, from The Chicago News, will be as lucid to many as Dr.
Einstein's theory: "Who says that poetry doesn't help business?
Before the poets became infatuated with the word 'chrypsos'—"

THE "WET" PARADE

That extensively advertised
Fourth of July parade of 100,000
New York anti-prohibitionists that was going to "show" Mr. Volstead and give him an idea as to the extent of the unpopularity of the law that bears his name proved to be a sempar where a cyclone was promised.

Instead of a roof-raising, "hell-roarin'" demonstration of protest against prohibition, as announced in advance by the assiduous press agents of the "wets," it actually amounted to a feeble, husky-toned murmuring of discontent, uttered by a little handful of weary marchers who strode disconsolately up Fifth avenue, pricked by jibes and witticisms from the sidelines.

Of the 100,000 who were scheduled to march, only 18,000 "turned out" to take part in the parade—which, in New York, is an "outpouring of the populace" on a par with 900 in Atlanta.

And an expression by only 900 citizens could hardly be taken as voicing the sentiment of Atlanta on any given subject of public interest, especially upon a question of such vital concern to the masses as is that of liquor-drinking!

The anti-prohibitionists of the country predicted that the New York protest parade on the national holiday would be an event withering to the "drys"—one that would upset the attitude of congress and tip the country over on its moral axis.

It was going to be a bombshell that would blow the "dry" doctrine into forty kinds of smithereens.
But it proved to be a dud!

It may be because it lacked yeast, but anyhow it fell flat; and the slogans carried aloft by the "weary-willie" marchers—such as "Give a few typical examples quoted by the press dispatches, as "A Nation Too Cowardly to Drink in the Toboggan," "Russia Went Dry in 1919, Mad in 1920," "Prohibition Is Ruining Our Merchant Marine: 600 Vessels Tied to the Docks," etc.—were either so weak and colorless, or else so misrep-resentative of conditions as to be pathetically ridiculous.

The whole event, if the news reports are true, was a pitiable farce, and there was nothing in it to frighten even the most faint-hearted and apprehensive follower of the prohibition banner.

And, to paraphrase an Uncle Remus expression, "Br'er Volstead, he jes' la!"

DOOMED TO FAILURE.
After having been out of work nearly three months, during which time they and their families have undergone extreme privations, the striking coal miners of Great Britain, approximately one million in number, have given up their fight, and on July 4 they returned to work on the wage scale offered by their employers and against which they struck.

On account of the strike, not only were the strikers out of employment for nearly three months, but the enforced shutting down of the mines brought unemployment to fully as many more working men in other crafts; the losses in production of commodities other than coal have been enormous, and the foreign trade of Great Britain has suffered tremendously.

Whether or not the strike would have been under any circumstances, its doom was sealed when the pump men were called out some weeks ago.

That would have left the mines to ruin, which, in turn, would have destroyed the source of income of the men themselves. The act was so ultra-radical, so destructive and so utterly unpatriotic, that public sentiment was turned against the strikers.

And without public sentiment in its favor no movement that involves the public welfare can possibly succeed.

The British coal strike has terminated just as any movement that depends upon destruction of property and public welfare for its success is bound to terminate.

It is to be hoped that these miners will not in the future feel called upon to make another such sacrifice in order to receive justice from their employers; and that their experience in this instance will prove to be a lasting lesson, not only to the coal miners of Great Britain, but to workers everywhere who may feel tempted at times to heed the counsel of Destruction and Violence.

That "white mule" that is earning big money in vaudeville certainly has "the kick."

Even with the weather at its sweltering best, they won't cut out the fireworks.

ernor, Hugh M. Dorsey, to "impeach" John Boykin.

Governor Dorsey, who is a lawyer, informed the Hon. Aldine that was the function of the legislature.

He then tried to get a new governor, Thomas W. Hardwick, to do the "impeaching."

And Governor Hardwick, who is also a lawyer, told the Hon. Aldine

the same thing.

He then wrote Judge John D.

Humphries requesting him to have the grand jury investigate "certain charges" against the solicitor-general.

And the court informed the Honorable Aldine that it was not within its function to become a prosecutor.

In the meantime on the door of the Honorable Aldine's office there is the familiar sign, "Attorney and Might be advisable for the Honorable Aldine to rub up on his "lego about this thing.

It would save the newspapers a lot of valuable space, and the public a lot of tiresome rot!

Public opinion is generally right;

Individuals err.

Fallibility is a common trait in the human mind.

But the composite opinion of the public, as a whole, is correct.

Public opinion has backed John public opinion; by his obligation

as a prosecutor; by a fearless dis-those who would destroy him; by schemes have failed.

On the other hand—

Public opinion will not sustain even a public official in persecution;

It will not sustain him in selfish revenge, in intrigue, or in design-

Justice is inherent. It is too sacred to be trifled with.

If Aldine Chambers knows that John Boykin is a crook, a thief, an assassin, a man who has done all the things alleged or implied in

There are no other ways.

KABER ATTORNEYS AGAINST WOMEN

Eleven Men in Tentative Panel—Only Six Women in Prospective List of Forty to Be Called.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 5.—Chances for even one woman to sit on the jury that is to try Mrs. Eva Catherine Kaber for the murder of her husband, Daniel F. Kaber, two years ago, were remote tonight.

Eleven men were in the tentative panel. There were six women and six men in the panel when it was tentatively filled soon after court reconvened today. All six women later were excused by peremptory challenge of Mrs. Kaber's counsel, who have asserted they will use all of their sixteen peremptory challenges to remove women from the jury if necessary. Mrs. Minerva Anderson, accepted tentatively also, was peremptorily excused by William J. Corrigan, Mrs. Kaber's counsel, before she reached the jury box.

The defense had six peremptory challenges left when court adjourned for the day, and the state two. Of about 40 prospective jurors from which to draw to complete the panel, there are only two women. Eighty-six tentative jurors have been examined. Another special venire of 30 names was ordered today by the court.

Jury Completed Today. Judge Maurice Bernon, who is presiding in the case, announced this evening that he expected the jury to be completed tomorrow and that the taking of testimony might be started then also.

The state has used but one peremptory challenge, removing Edward J. Ort, district manager of a financial corporation. It has two left, having forfeited one challenge under Judge Bernon's ruling that the state must exercise one such challenge to the state's four.

County Prosecutor Edward C. Stanton stated that the first state witness will be a former assistant coroner by whose testimony he will prove that Daniel F. Kaber is actually dead. He would not reveal the names of witnesses whom he expects to call first.

Judge Bernon, who had been assigned to the criminal division because of his ability to hurry up trials, grew impatient today at the involved questions being asked prospective jurors by counsel, and took upon himself the task of making the preliminary inquiries over Mr. Corrigan's objection. Here is a sample of the plain questions asked by the judge:

Fifty-Fifty Deal.

"Do you feel that you could give both sides a 50-50 deal?"

Though Attorney Francis W. Poulson, Mrs. Kaber's personal counsel, has received a number of offers from persons to give expert testimony regarding insanity, which is to be a defense of Mrs. Kaber, he says he prefers to elect his own assistants. He said he would call a number of prominent experts in an attempt to convince the jury that Mrs. Kaber was insane when she planned the murder of her husband.

Christ Gillis, the sixtieth prospective juror called, was excused because of his intimate acquaintance with the Kaber family. He was the first to say he was acquainted with the family.

A crowd of curious hung about the entrance to the court room all day seeking admittance.

JOSEPHUS DANIELS DELIVERS ADDRESS AT MILLEDGEVILLE

Milledgeville, Ga., July 5.—(Special.)—Josephus Daniels, former secretary of the United States navy, in a talk made in the auditorium of the G. N. & I. college here this evening, declared that George Harvey, ambassador to England, should be recalled. This statement drew forth rounds of applause. The former secretary paid high tribute to Woodrow Wilson and commended the league of nations.

In a speech that dealt principally with the achievements of the navy during the world war, Mr. Daniels took occasion to praise the spirit of the women of the country during the conflict and declared that he was glad they had been given the vote, as he was sure that they would bring about great things in the future.

Mr. Daniels spoke last night at Bowling Green, Ky. Tomorrow night he will speak at Greenville, S. C. The summer students at the G. N. & I. school were admitted to the talk free. Admission was charged the public, however.

SONS SEE FATHER SHOT TO DEATH AFTER QUARREL

Broxton, Ga., July 5.—(Special.)—Pete Adams, a farmer, was shot to death before two of his small sons and two neighbors today. It is charged by W. M. Wooten, who is the result of a quarrel said to have been the culmination of a long period of bad feeling between the men. As Wooten drove away after the shooting, one of the boys who had seen their father shot down said to have seized a shotgun from the hands of the dying man and fired twice at the alleged slayer.

While Wooten was returning home from Broxton, it is reported, he met Adams and his two sons coming from the river. A quarrel ensued which lasted until two neighbors arrived. Adams kept Wooten covered with a shotgun during the quarrel.

It is stated that when the neighbors thought they had the altercation settled, Adams turned away from Wooten, who is said to have seized the opportunity and shot Adams in the head with a revolver, afterwards firing four shots in the body. Wooten then drove away and surrendered to Sheriff Tanner.

Two Men Meet Death and Four Are Injured in Crash Tuesday Of Automobile and Accommodation Train on Central Railroad

In the accompanying photographs are shown scenes of the wreck on the Atlanta and West Point tracks at Fort McPherson Tuesday, in which two men were killed, and photographs of the two victims. In the large photograph, upper left, is the wrecked automobile, driven by E. L. Harrison, 105 Clairmont avenue, East Point. The upper right photograph shows the locomotive as it was overturned after striking the car. In the right foreground of this photo is a portion of an overturned coach. In the large center picture is shown the engine cabin. The body of H. M. Emerson, 550 Mercer avenue, fireman, was pinned under the wreckage, and was covered with the piece of canvas in the center foreground. The small photographs are, above, Harrison, the automobile driver, and below, Emerson, the fireman, who were killed.

Fireman Crushed When Engine Falls on Side, and Driver of Automobile Is Second Victim.

Crashing headlong into the automobile of E. L. Harrison, 36 years old, of 95 Clairmont, Colonial Hills, East Point, the accommodation train on the Central railroad, from Atlanta to Jonesboro, was derailed and two persons killed at Tillman's crossing near Camp Jessup at 6:35 o'clock Tuesday morning.

The dead are: E. L. Harrison, driver of the car. Henry M. Emerson, 24 years old, fireman of the accommodation. In addition, M. E. Courtney, of Jonesboro, engineer of the train, was slightly scalded; Elbert Gates, colored, employee of the Central of Georgia, slightly bruised; Ernest Starr, colored, employee of the Central of Georgia, possibly fractured skull; and Arthur Appling, colored, also an employee of the railroad, cut about the head and may lose one eye.

Witnesses Accident. W. T. Brant, of East Point, brother-in-law of the driver of the automobile, was a witness to the accident. According to his statement Harrison was in the habit of driving into town at about 6:30 o'clock every morning and usually stopped by to get him.

Tuesday morning he was a little late and thinking that Harrison had already gone to town, Brant was waiting to catch the car when he saw his brother-in-law drive past him and turn at Tillman's crossing to go to the home of his father, on Lee street.

At this moment the accommodation train, known as the "dummy," bore down on the automobile at a high rate of speed, according to the accounts of witnesses. Evidently before the doomed man realized that the train was near him it had struck the car and dragged it for some distance, totally demolishing it and derailed the train itself.

The tender, locomotive and first passenger coach were turned over by the force of the collision. Two other coaches were derailed but remained on the track.

Engineer Jumps. Engineer Courtney saved his life by jumping from the train as it left the tracks but fireman Emerson was crushed and the engine as it fell over. His body was later found from under the wreckage by Camp Jessup soldiers and volunteers who were at the scene of the accident.

All the injured men were rushed to the Fort McPherson hospital. Harrison dying soon after his arrival there. He never gained consciousness.

According to witnesses the accommodation train which had been to Atlanta, and was returning, was making good speed in order to get to the yards on time.

At 6 o'clock a wrecking crew had arrived and the wreckage was in process of being cleared. The side of the car were lying beneath the tracks. It was scarcely recognizable as a car. The engine and tender were badly smashed and its roll down the embankment and the tender, which was the part to first strike the automobile, was fairly split in two.

Harrison was an employee of the Capital City Laundry. He had been a route salesman for this concern for the last eleven years and was considered a valuable employee as well as a careful driver. No reason can be advanced for his failure to notice the oncoming train as there were no box cars in the way and the crossing is what is usually considered a safe one.

Harrison's father, J. D. Harrison, reached the scene shortly after the accident. He lived but half a block from the crossing.

Officials of the railroad are investigating the accident. Fireman Emerson was well thought of in Oakland City and was a valued employee of the railroad. The news of Harrison's death was being spread Tuesday afternoon from his wife who is ill.

SENATORS REJECT PLAN FOR RECESS

BY CLARK HOWELL, JR.,
Constitution Bureau,
Raleigh Hotel.

Washington, July 5.—(By Constitution Leased Wire.)—Senator Lodge's so-called leadership of the senate was given a severe jolt Tuesday when his concurrent resolution providing for a three weeks' summer holiday for the senators beginning next Saturday was defeated by a vote of 28 to 24.

Old line republicans who had never before deviated from the straight and narrow path outlined by party leaders left the beaten track and joined with the democrats in protesting against a recess before some aid had been rendered to the farmers of the country and some machinery had been set in motion looking to a determination of the tax and tariff problems.

In offering his resolution Senator Lodge explained that there was a desire on the part of many senators for a brief rest during the hot weather. He pointed out that the tariff bill probably would not reach the senate before the end of July. The house, in the meantime, will be engaged upon that measure, he said, and would not be willing to take up any other bills that the senate might now pass until after it had disposed of the tariff bill.

Lead Opposition. Senator Norris, of Nebraska, and Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, strenuously opposed taking a recess until some of the bills now pending, intended to aid the farmer, shall have been passed by the senate. These senators mentioned particularly a bill to establish a government corporation to assist in the exportation of agricultural products, and also the anti-gambling grain bill.

"Does the republican party intend to adjourn without rendering assistance to the great mass of farmers who have been so hard hit at the aftermath of the war?" asked Senator Simmons. "Do you intend, shouting Senator Simmons, to be so imbecile as to admit your impotency or your unwillingness to aid the tiller of the soil, who has a mortgage on his land and the sheriff knocking at the door?"

The senator from North Carolina declared that congress had done none of the things so far for which it was called into session by the president three months ago. Senator Fletcher, of Florida, and Senator La Follette, of Wisconsin, joined in a protest of a holiday at this time. They called attention to the fact that the president had particularly urged that some aid be given the farmers of the country. Senator La Follette also said that the country had been promised legislation revising and reducing taxation, but as yet nothing had been done.

Lack of Leadership. Although articles have appeared in newspapers and magazines all over the country dwelling upon the woeful lack of forceful and competent leadership in either branch of congress, not until today has this lack of leadership so clearly manifested itself. Senator Lodge, calm and imperturbable after his defeat, was as immutable as the sphinx and said not one word in protest. It was indicated, however, by other republican leaders, that new efforts for adjournment will be inaugurated upon the return of a larger number of senators from their Fourth of July holiday.

As the result of the inability of the republicans to act harmoniously upon the vital legislation which is confronting them, there has grown up a certain amount of factionalism within the majority party. The democrats, in a hopeless minority, feel that the republicans have made a miserable failure of every question that has come before them and are certain that this dilly-dally policy forebodes nothing but ill for the republicans in the coming congressional elections. This feeling is shared by the republicans themselves, who realize that they will be held strictly accountable for their lack of action upon the tariff and tax questions within a reasonable time, especially in view of the fact that republican campaign speakers had promised so much and have accomplished so little.

LEGION TO ELECT STATE HEAD TODAY

Columbus, Ga., July 5.—(Special.)

The election for the post of state commander will be held at the third annual convention of the Georgia department of the American Legion here Wednesday morning. The campaign to secure the post of the next state commander is one of the liveliest seen at a legion convention in the state, and the situation changes so often that it is virtually impossible to keep abreast of who's who. It was generally conceded Monday afternoon that Rodney S. Cohen, of Augusta, was in the lead with Edgar B. Dunlap, of Gainesville, a strong contender.

Overnight, however, the situation apparently has changed, and the leading candidates were James Fort, of Americus, and Mr. Dunlap. This was brought about by a caucus Monday night called by the Augusta delegation and attended by virtually every delegate from south Georgia.

At this caucus Mr. Fort was decided upon as an opponent to Mr. Dunlap and it now seems probable that these will be the only candidates in the field when the nominations are made Wednesday morning. The Augusta delegation felt certain that they would be able to elect Mr. Cohen, and it was only because of the claims of south Georgia that it was entitled to recognition that the chance was made.

Auxiliary Organized. The woman's auxiliary of the legion formally organized this morning and ratified their action of yesterday in electing Mrs. Frank Fleming, of Augusta, chairman. Auxiliary met again Tuesday afternoon.

The events of Monday came to a close last night with a dance that proved one of the most delightful social affairs of the convention. It followed the presentation of "H. M. Pinafore" on the river front by Charles S. Harrison post.

Immediately after the Tuesday session, delegates were driven to Camp Benning and served with lunch from army field kitchens. This was followed by a battle staged by Benning units, including infantry, machine guns, artillery, tanks, balloons and airplanes. It was the first time since the war that the soldiers of yesterday had had an opportunity to see the soldiers of today in action in a replica of some of the same battle scenes they themselves had gone through in France. The demonstration lasted about two hours. The day's program was to close tonight with a French carnival on Broad street.

Reports on Resolutions. The second day's session of the convention today was featured by reports of committees on resolutions and constitutional amendments, and by an address by Colonel Paul E. Malone, of Camp Benning. Only one of the proposed amendments to the constitution was favorably reported upon. This amendment authorizes annulment of the state adjutant by the state commander, instead of having this official chosen by an election. The proposed amendment whereby the state commander should name the state executive committee, subject to confirmation by the convention, and making the commanders members of the committee, adversely reported upon by the committee, was sustained by the convention.

Tribute to the women of America for their work during the war was paid in the address by Colonel Malone. He declared that they made victory for America, and allied arms possible by their devotion and their wonderful work, both at home and overseas. Colonel Malone was given an ovation when he concluded.

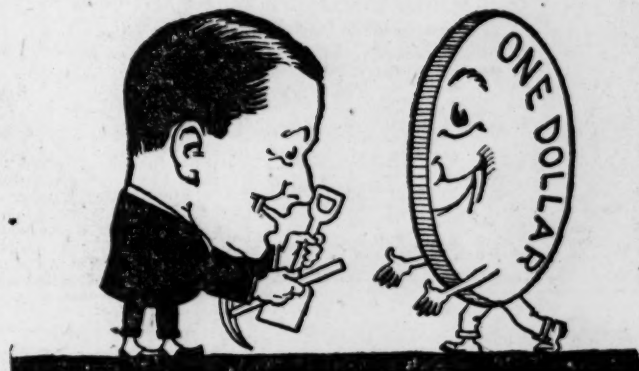

Three Columbus men, Walter A. Richards, Milton Long and J. W. Milner, were decorated today with the distinguished service cross. General W. H. Gordon, of Camp Benning, made the presentation.

Thomas W. Miller, of Washington, one of the founders of the American Legion, will address the convention tomorrow. Athens and Augusta are the contenders for the next convention of the legion.

By a large majority the convention today adopted a resolution reducing the state's adjutant salary from $3,000 to $100 a year. State Commander A. J. Hanson strongly opposed the proposed reduction, and made a vigorous address on the subject. J. C. Bloodworth, of Atlanta, is the present state adjutant, but said today, before the salary resolution was passed, that under no circumstances would he be a candidate for re-election.

annual exposition of the Georgia Pharmaceutical association will officially open Wednesday.

Dates of the exhibit are July 4-9 inclusive, while the pharmaceutical association will only be in session Wednesday and Thursday.

Following registration of dele-session will be held at 10 o'clock in the form of a general get-together and business meeting. D. G. Wise, of Atlanta, is president of the association and will preside. Rumors that a new law tending to place pharmacy on a higher plane will be discussed at the opening meet-attempts to pass and place into operation such a law will be one of the outstanding features of the convention. It will be the purpose of advocates to secure adoption of a resolution outlining the new act and then place it before the legislature for passage.

PARIS IS AROUSED BY BEUTHEN RIOTS

Paris, July 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—The killing of Major Montalieres, of the French army, during a hostile demonstration by the German population of Beuthen, Upper Silesia, reported in foreign office advices, has created a most painful impression in French official circles, it was indicated in a dispatch today.

After the Poles had withdrawn from the town under the evacuation agreement. The officer was in command of a small French detachment that had remained in Beuthen throughout the Upper Silesian troubles, it was explained. The British troops that were assigned to occupy the town had not yet arrived, and the manifestants

When the British arrived, foreign police advices add, they were obliged to fire in order to disperse the crowd, and some of the demonstrators were killed and others wounded.

VERSION.
Berlin, July 5.—Tre version of the trouble at Beuthen, Upper Silesia, given by the Allgemine Zeitung today, declares that the people began acclaiming the allies upon the Polish withdrawal but that when the inhabitants started singing patriotic songs the French attacked them with rifle butts.

TOURNAMENT NOTES

BY W. L. CARY.

The success or failure of a tennis tournament depends in a great measure on the way it is run and the reason this is the best southern tournament ever held is very largely due to the competent manner in which Referee Tom Wilson has conducted it.

Running a tournament is no such and the fact that Tom has his tournament so well in hand and has not made a single enemy even among the temperamental women, shows he is wasting his time in the highest branch of the diplomatic service.

It is remarkable how many matches in which Henry Bruns of New Orleans plays attracts the fair sex. If feminine admiration can win tennis matches then the southern championship is already on its way to the Crescent city.

Bruno, however, has a strong rival in "Hap" Owens. It is an even bet that any "sweet young thing" that appears at East Lake will be greeted by her first name by the self-same "Hap," and when one takes into consideration the vast number of the above mentioned "sweet young things" one can readily see that "Hap" is no piker when it comes to numbers.

The consolation singles is a wonderful event and a godsend. But for it, many so-called tennis players, the writer included, would find it exceedingly embarrassing to explain their presence at the tournament any longer.

Greenville, S. C. had the unique distinction of entering three representatives, none of whom have won a single match so far and as no partner could be secured for any of them in mixed doubles, their hopes rest entirely in a lucky draw in the consolation.

"Jacksonville's pride," in the persons of Rose and Hirschburg, played a horrible day. Both were beaten in the singles and to make the day a complete one, Allan and Ware administered the worst licking to their team that any team has received so far.

No, Bertie, that dark cloud over the St. John river is not a fog. It is simply gloom that Jacksonville feels for her tennis sons.

When Jeff Hunt meets Douglass Waters this afternoon a lot of people of the feminine gender are going to have a bad hour no matter which way the contest goes.

Jake Orr is covering his ally in the most approved fashion. Jake is probably the greatest ally player in America.

C. Y. Smith is going to make an awful fight for his third leg on that singles cup. He realizes that he has the battle of his life on his hands and declares that this is his last singles effort.

Tom Wilson has now got to go through life's tennis crucible for starting at ten o'clock the women's events begin. Woman always uncertain rises to the zenith of this trait during a tennis tournament and if the gallant Tom passes through the next three days without losing the friendship of not more than sixteen of the fair sex the hall of fame should make way for another entry.

GA. STATE GAMES HERE

Atlanta fans will be given an opportunity to see the Georgia State league teams in action several times during the absence of the Crackers, according to the plans made at the meeting of the Georgia State directors held at the Capital City club yesterday. Games scheduled for the Carrollton club will at various times be shifted to Ponce de Leon park while the Crackers are on the road.

Atlanta fans will thus be given an opportunity to witness the class of ball being played in the state organization, and the farming out territory of the Southern league clubs at present.

Lindale walked away with honors in the first half of the season, copping the flag easily. The second half of the race will most likely be very hotly contested due to strengthening by several clubs in the organization.

Griffin was backed by the entire board of directors for the stand they took in respect to the striking players at Griffin in fining the players $100 each and suspending them indefinitely. An entire new organization of players are being secured to put Griffin back up in the running once again for the pennant.

H. P. Melickham, of Lindale, president of the league, presided over the meeting of the directors.

BRITONS WIN NET MATCHES

Newport, R. I., July 5.—Oxford and Cambridge took two of the three double matches for the New York tennis tournament at the Newport Casino courts today. Enno and Duane, Harvard's stars, were able to defeat the Oxford team, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2, 8-6, but in the others the visitors showed marked superiority.

Hopkins and Barbour, of Oxford, took the first match from Williams and Bandy, of Yale, in five sets, 6-4, 6-3, 6-2, 6-8, 6-4.

Hopburn, of Oxford, and Lowry, of Cambridge, won the third match from Wheeler, of Yale, and Holmes, of Harvard, in straight sets, 6-4, 6-2, 6-2.

Six singles matches are on tomorrow's program.

Charge Solicitor With Blackmail Of Movie Men

Boston, July 5.—Special Assistant Attorney-General Henry F. Hurlburt left Boston Tuesday for New York, there to secure depositions from prominent motion picture magnates alleged to have been blackmailed following the now famous $100,000 "champagne and chicken party" at Mishawum Manor, Woburn, in 1917.

Hurlburt is the man who investigated the office of District Attorney Nathan A. Tutts, of Middlesex county. His probe resulted in a petition to the supreme court for the removal of Tutts from office. Allen made numerous allegations, including one that Tutts had conspired with Boston lawyers to extort $150,000 from participants in the alleged orgy at Mishawum Manor, and the hearing is expected to begin next week.

Some of the big business men who were "shaken down" are said to be anxious for revenge, figuring that the exposure they paid to avoid is bound to come now in any case, and it is expected that Allen and Hurlburt will receive their co-operation.

How Can You Be Satisfied With Mere Printing

When you can get the product of 33 years' experience FOR THE SAME MONEY?

The fact that we are a large and successful establishment does not make us higher-priced printers. Rather, because of our size and experience, we can offer you better printing for practically the same that you pay for mediocre.

"Hawke Eyes" are eyes fully equipped for life's battles. They are capable eyes because nature's defects are overcome with correcting lenses—in time.

"Hawke Eyes" are possible to all who have defective vision. A Hawkes specialist will examine your eyes, and if your trouble has gone too far he will suggest that you see an oculist. We prefer an oculist's prescription when eyes are diseased, otherwise our people are capable of measuring and prescribing glasses.
